Crew Leasing

Contractair focuses on the supply of flight deck, cabin crew and training staff to supplement an airline's own operations department.

Most operators accept that finding an established crew-leasing partner is the key to ensuring smooth continued operations during:

- Fleet expansion & replacement
- Conversion training
- Seasonal operations
- Periods of market change where extra flexibility is required

Why choose Contractair?

Contractair is managed and operated by experienced aviation personnel. We realise that aviation is a unique industry, operating 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and we are readily available to react to the needs of our customers and crew.

Our extensive aviation knowledge enhances our ability to quickly identify suitable flight crew whose licences, ratings and experience will meet the unique requirements of different certifying aviation authorities.

Unlike many of our competitors Contractair puts as much effort into maintaining contracts as we do setting them up with the objective being a content workforce whose focus remains purely on flying. Regular crew contract relieves clients of further pressures on their time and resources.

Specialising primarily in flight deck crew placements, but also offering the services of cabin crew, ACMI leasing and aviation consultancy.

Working together with airline companies world-wide both for commercial and VIP operators.

Contractair is one of the few agencies to hold labour licences in Germany, Switzerland and Belgium.

Contractair Ltd is an accredited Investor in People (IIP) company and an accredited ISO 9000 company.

Our Values:

- Industry Experties
- Quality
- Honesty & Integrity
- Transparency
- Compliance

Screening, Evaluation and Assessment

Aviation Personnel Consulting

Using our extensive contact base Contractair is able to offer valuable advice on:

- Type ratings and training issues
- Crew outsourcing
- Cross border licensing issues and foreign validation
- Availability of crew from overseas carriers
- Initial testing, screening and psychometric evaluation

These services can be used to good effect with new start-up airlines as well as established carriers.

Interim Supply

As part of being a global supplier of flight crew, Contractair specialises in the supply of 'interim' flight crew to certain European countries that require special arrangements or licenses to supply personnel. In particular Contractair is one of the few companies to hold a government-approved licence to provide crews in Belgium.

An interim licence allows Contractair as a UK based company to operate within the legal framework of another European country whilst at all times adhering to EU legislation.

In addition to Belgium, Contractair can supply crew to Germany and Switzerland, countries that also require special arrangements.
